And whereas it is expedient for the Corporation of the Town of Prince Albert to grant a bonus of five thousand dollars upon the conditions hereinafter mentioned to any person, persons or company who shall erect and maintain in running order such mill.

And whereas it is necessary to raise the sum of five thousand dollars for the purpose of said bonus.

5. There shall be raised, levied and collected annually by a special rate on all the rateable property in the said Corporation of the Town of Prince Albert the sum of three hundred dollars for the payment of interest during the currency of the said debentures and also the sum of one hundred and seventy dollars for the payment of the said debt.

6. The annual special rate of thirteen-twentieths of one mill on the dollar upon the assessed value of all the rateable property in said Corporation of the Town of Prince Albert according to the last revised assessment roll thereof, over and above all other rates and taxes shall be raised, levied and collected annually from the year 1895 to the year 1914 inclusive for the purpose of paying the said loan of five thousand dollars and interest as aforesaid.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., May, 1894.

SOUTH AND WEST

versus North and East is a much talked of political combination. An out and out free trade and free coinage party that shall cut lose from Wall Street, New York, New England and even New Jersey and trust to the solid South and growing West, is a favorite topic of certain politicians gathered at the Capital. Cleveland's opposition to silver coinage, Senator Hill's bold assault upon the Wilson Bill, the threatened split of the New York Democracy, the Republican tide that seems to be rising in the North and East, and the opposition of many Northern Democrats both to free silver and to unqualified free trade; all these furnish texts to those who are saying "let New York, Wall Street, Tammany, Hill and Cleveland go, and let us look to the West." Already they are counting the 223 electoral votes which make a majority necessary to choose a president. 125 from the unanimous South excluding West Virginia and Maryland and 103 west of the Mississippi exclusive of Iowa and Minnesota with a fighting chance for West Virginia, Maryland, Michigan and Illinois to spare, something like this is proposed.

THE FATE OF THE WILSON BILL

is uncertain. A bill will be enacted into law no doubt, but how much like the original Wilson Bill it will be, cannot be foretold. The Louisiana Senators have said to their friends "if you wish our votes you must protect sugar;" Hill says "if you want my vote you must knock out the income tax" and he is certain to insist when that is done that the deficit shall be made up by protecting some of New York's products and no doubt Murphy will stand with him. Peffer says "you protect sugar, you must protect wool and other agricultural products," Smith of New Jersey and Brice of Ohio, and possibly others, are expected to ask for modifications of the bill. When it has been shaped by the Senate so as to command a majority vote and goes back to the House that body will refuse it and a conference must be had. What shall come out of the conference committee with a prospect of commanding the votes of both houses will depend largely upon how vigorously a few Democratic Senators stand by the productive interests of their constituents. As to Senator Hill, there can be no doubt that he intends to have what he thinks New York wants.

COUNTING A QUORUM

is necessary to expedite business in the House and the majority while they will not concede that the Speaker can count a quorum present but not voting, as Reed did, and will not authorize such a counting by the Speaker, have nevertheless concluded to have the counting done, though in a more formal way. It is too absurd that the House in trying to get a quorum may send to California for an absent member and having got him here shall have no power to use him or make him contribute to the purpose for which he was summoned. Under such a practice a few balky ones can block the whole caravan. Better let the willing ones go ahead though they drag the hold backs along bodily rather than have the whole team stalled in the mud.

BRECKINRIDGE

moves for a new trial which he probably will not get, but he says he will appeal The prevailing opinion is that an appeal will be made mainly for the purpose of aiding his re-election in Kentucky. Few see any ground for expecting a reversal of the verdict.

CAPITAL.

SASKATOON.

A ripple of excitement was caused in Saskatoon by the interesting fact that another of our bachelor friends was about to enter the lists of the benedicts. On the evening of Monday, April 23rd, Mr. Wm. Bate entered into the marriage covenant with Miss Maud Garrison, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. A. E Roberts of Kinistino. At 7:30 p.m. a few friends gathered under the bride's parental roof, and the solemn marriage service of the Methodist church proceeded with, the bride being given away by her father. Mr. Everton Garrison assisted the bridegroom, Miss Allie Thompson performing the same duty for the bride. At the close of the service the party adjourned to the dining room where a substantial and tastefully arranged repast was partaken of. Soon after eleven o'clock the newly married couple drove out to their home, starting amid a shower of rice and good wishes. So successful was this event that we feel like adding this advice to our bachelor friends, "Go thou and do likewise."

By direction of the Council of Public Instruction, for the North West Territories, Mr. Goggin will conduct Institutes as follows:

"MEN OF THE MOVEMENT."

This is the title of a very handsome work issued by The Templar of Hamilton, Ont., containing thirty magnificent photogravures of national prohibition leaders accompanied by fac simile autographs and biographical sketches. The subjects were selected by an election in which twelve thousand votes were cast. The book will be highly prized by temperance workers and commands the admiration of every lover of art. Twenty Five cents to W. W. Buchanan, Hamilton, will bring any one a copy free by mail, or five copies for a dollar.

THE SLEEP OF THE JUST.

THE LAWYER.

I slept in an editor's bed last night,
When no other chanced to be nigh,
How I thought, as I tumbled the editor's bed,
How easily editor's lie!

THE EDITOR.

If the lawyer slept in the editor's bed,
When no lawyer chanced to be nigh,
And though he has written and naively said,
How easily editors lie.
He must then admit, as he lay on that bed
And slept to his heart's desire,
Whate'er he may say of the editor's bed,
Then the lawyer himself was the lier.

A boon to horsemen.—One bottle of English Spavin Lininment completely removed a curb from my horse. I take pleasure in reccommending the remedy, as it acts with mysterious promptness in the removal from horses of hard, soft or calloused lumps, blood spavin, splints, curbs, sweeny, stifles and sprains.

OCEAN FREIGHT RATES.

The Ocean Freight Rates on cattle is demanding the serious attention of the public, and the immediate attention of the Federal Parliament, if the irregularities exposed by the Dominion Live Stock Association be correct. The manner in which the ocean freight is now canducted has not only done incalculable injury already, but if allowed to continue will ultimately be one of the means of destroying one of the greatest industries of the country, the export of live cattle to Great Britain. One hundred and four thousand one hundred and thirty-three cattle were exported to the United Kingdom in 1890 as against 89,572 in 1893. The Dominion Live Stock Association assign two causes for this great decrease. One is the scheduling of Canadian cattle; the other, the ocean freight rates. The cattle export trade from Canada to the United Kingdom began in the year 1875 and has brought in return into this country in cash over $75,000,000. The loss of such a trade is of the most vital importance to the people of this country. Mr. Mulock, M.P., has introduced a bill into Parliament having for its object the regulating of the Ocean Freight Rate on cattle, which will prevent excessive and uncertain rates which are now so vitally injuring this great Canadian industry. Owing to quarantine regulations, the export of Canadian cattle intended for the English market, is confined to the Canadian port of Montreal, which is the head of ocean steamship navigation in Canada. From this port all Canadian cattle intended for the British market must be shipped by one or other of the few lines of steamers sailing between Montreal and Great Britain. This matter demands immediate legislation by the Dominion Parliament now in session, in order to prevent such a huge combination from destroying the great cattle trade of Canada.

In another column will be found a circular issued by the Dominion Live Stock Association.

The Canadian Colliery Guardian says—A sign of the times is the airing of the long cherished scheme of a line of rails from Winnipeg to Hudson's Bay, now getting into parliamentary circles. It is pertinent to ask, does Canada know what she possesses up there to the North of Bell Isle and to the north of the North West land? We possess there a mighty bay carved there by the Atlantic of pre-historic ages of the continent for the benefit of the commerce and industry of the nation. The fact that we haul our farm produce from Winnipeg to Montreal for shipment down the St. Lawrence is evidence that, boast as we may of our progress, we have to stand upon a much lower pinnacle of enterprising vigor than we do to-day. For 200 years the little vessels of the Hudson Bay Company have run across from the Thames to Hudson Bay, engaged in a sure and lucrative Anglo-Canadian trade. This trade cannot be deemed developed until ocean steamships follow in their wake and steam up to wharves in Nelson and Churchill harbors, Hudson Bay. All this is practicable and more. If the Nelson river is dredged a vessel can steam into Lake Winnipeg and if the Red river is dredged that same vessel can steam into and moor alongside the grain elevators of the city of Winnipeg. The question of ice in the Bay has long been settled and it is now absolutely certain that the navigation of the straits (the Bay is never frozen) is open for several months suitable for the grain business. Then as to the use of the scheme, it will effect an average saving in cost of transporting Canadian (and American) farm produce to the European market of 25 per cent. It may be said at once that the railway to the Bay would have been presented ere this, but for the hostility of the vested interests of the Port of Montreal and the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The deflection of the commerce of the West into Hudson Bay would mean the temporary impoverishment of Montreal and the railway, and it is beyond question that it is of the heavy influence Montreal possesses in London that the promoters of the line have not been able to raise sufficient capital on the other side to complete the road. There can, however be no question as to the ultimate success of the scheme, and the consequent revolutionizing of the European trade of Northwestern America is therefore inevitable.

The Mark Lane Express of London goes to the root of the matter when it points out that a continued overproduction of wheat means bankruptcy. It advises English farmers not to plant an acre of spring wheat. American farmers will do well to consider the same advice. The quantity of unsold wheat in sight is double that of former years. The wheat dealers are troubled with an embarrassment of riches. Our storehouses unduly crammed by a system of misleading crop reports, and the proper remedy is a decrease of production. The present accumulation of stocks is partly the result of false information systematically circulated by organizations of the farmers themselves. The speculation thereby encouraged has caused overproduction and consequent after depression. Whether harm shall be continuous or temporary shall depend upon whether or not we repeal the offence against the laws of supply and demand.

A correspondent of the New York Tribune asks a series of questions which speak eloquently for the intelligent grasp of the financial question displayed by the demagogues over the border, who for months have been filling the air with their insane silver theories. This correspondent wants to know what regulates the value of gold? Why there are 100 cents in a dollar? What is a dollar? Why should not 100 cents make two dollars? These pertinent questions open up the whole question of money. The man who asked them was wise in his generation because he candidly admitted absolute ignorance of any financial knowledge, and he looked for information instead of endeavoring to force some original idea of his own upon the country.

General Master Workman Sovereign, of the Knights of Labor, told the reporters who interviewed him that spring has brought no improvement of the financial and industrial depression in the United States. Although this corrects the statements appearing in the financial press of New York, it is completely borne out by the Treasury balance sheet for April, a forecast of which has just been published at Washington. This statement says there will be a loss of nearly $10,000,000 in the general balance sheet of the Treasury for the present month. Favorable crop reports are anxiously looked for to indicate a more favorable situation.

The Fisheries Department has, in order to prevent depletion of a valuable Fraser River fishery, forbidden the sale of sturgeon under four feet long, and therefore not fully grown. The Department meanwhile, pending the receipt of the necessary license forms, delayed at Ottawa, issuing temporary permits to fishermen for the taking of salmon. More verification of citizenship and residence is now, very properly, required by the Department, to prevent the granting of licenses to unqualified aliens.

The Halibut fishery of Northern British Columbia has ended for the season, the Capilano bringing down this week, to New Westminster, a last catch of 45,000 lbs. The Western Fisheries Company has had a most successfull inaugural season.

Gold discoveries, believed to be of commercial value, are reported from Pitt Lake, and rich new finds are reported from China Creek, Alberni. Prospecting for coal is meanwhile proceeding south of Okanagan Lake.

The West Kootenay ore shipments over the Nelson & Fort Sheppard Railway for the week ending March 18th, were 40 tons, valued at $4,800.

WEDDING BELLS.

On Wednesday evening last a large and social gathering took place at the residence of Mr. George Thompson, some three miles south of the town, the occasion being the marriage of two of Mr. Thompson's handsome young daughters to a couple of Prince Albert's most estimable young business men. Rev. W. Rochester of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, was the officiating clergyman and performed the ceremony which united W. Y. Davis and Miss Maggie and J. E. Bradshaw, of the H. B. Co., and Miss Agnes as man and wife. After the marriage ceremony was concluded, the company sat down to the wedding supper prepared for the occasion, after which dancing and other amusements were indulged in for a few happy hours. About 2 a.m. the festivities ended and the newly married couples, amidst showers of rice and good wishes, left for town, where they will reside in the future. The wedding presents to both brides were numerous and valuable. To both happy couples THE TIMES wishes a long, happy and prosperous life in their new sphere.

TOWN TOPICS,

The Journal of Society.

(32 PAGES.) NEW YORK. (THURSDAY.)

Is universally recognized as the most complete weekly journal in the world.

Its "Saunterings" columns are inimitable. Its society news, especially of the doings of the 400 of New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, and all over the world, is not equaled by any newspaper. Its Financial Department is authority with all bankers and brokers. Its "Literary Show"—notes on current literature—is by the cleverest of reviewers. Its "Afield and Afloat" makes it the most interesting paper for all lovers of sport—yachting, football, rowing, shooting, fishing, etc. Its "On the Turf" excels all other racing notes. Its burlesques, poems and jokes are the cleverest. Its stories are by the best writers—among them Amélie Rives, F. Marion Crawford, Julian Hawthorne, Edgar Fawcett, Gilbert Parker, Mary J. Hawker ("Lanoe Falconer"), Barry Pain, Paul Bourget, Rudyard Kipling, Ambrose Bierce, etc., etc., and are, even if a trifle risqué, yet always clever, bright and pretty, without coarseness or anything to offend the most refined and moral woman. In addition to all this there is each week a supplement, portrait, in colors, of some man eminent in his walk of life.

HOW IS THIS?

Something new even in these days of mammoth premium offers, it is the latest effort of Stafford's Magazine, a New York monthly of home and general reading.

The proposition is to send the Magazine one year for one dollar, the regular subscription price, and in addition to send each subscriber fifty-two complete novels during the twelve months; one each week.

Think of it. You receive a new and complete novel, by mail, post paid, every week for fifty-two weeks, and in addition you get the magazine once a month for twelve months, all for one dollar. It is an offer which the publishers can only afford to make in the confident expectation of getting a hundred thousand new subscribers. Among the authors of the coming series are Wilkie Collins, Walter Besant, Mrs. Oliphant, Mary Cecil Hay, Florence Marryat, Anthony Trollope, A. Conan Doyle, Miss Braddon, Captain Marryat, Miss Thackery and Jules Verne. If you wish to take advantage of this unusual opportunity to send one dollar for Stafford's Magazine one year. Your first copy of the magazine and your first number of the fifty-two novels (one each week) which you are to receive during the year will be sent you by return mail. Remit by P.O Order, registered letter or express.

We are under the necessity of informing our costumers and the public in general that from this date forward we will positively refuse to extend credit for anything in our line of goods, unless by special arrangement. We are forced to this decision by the accumulation of small accounts which in the aggregate means a great deal to us. Individual purchases are usually for small amounts and we think it within the reach of everyone to comply; especially when our prices are so fair and reasonable. Drugs, Patent medicines, Toilet artic'es, &c., as well as all prescriptions filled by us must therefore be paid for at time of purchase. We think this course will eventually prove mutually benificial, and will positively not deviate therefrom.

DICK & CO., P. O. Box 482, Montreal

OCEAN FREIGHT ON CATTLE.

The Dominion Live Stock Association deem it their duty to bring to the attention of the Canadian public a matter which has already done much to injure, and if allowed to continue threatens almost the total destruction of one of Canada's greatest industries, namely, the export of live cattle to Great Britain.

When it is remembered that since the establishment of this trade about the year 1875, it has brought back to Canada in cash over $75,000,000, the price of Canadian cattle sold in Great Britain, it becomes at once apparent how deeply this industry affects the interests of the whole country.

The importance, therefore, of the subject demands that the Association submit to the public the following facts:

The cattle trade reached its highest point in 1890, since which time it has declined.

The following were the exports of cattle and their value for the calendar years 1890-91-92-93:

Year.	No. of cattle exported to United Kingdom	their value
1890	104,133	$8,114,145
1991	99,967	7,381,284
1892	93.206	6,920,748
1893	89,572	6,799,638

Whilst the scheduling of Canadian cattle was one great cause for this decline, another and a preventible one is also operating in the same direction. If the trade were in a healthy condition it might be able to stand some draw backs, but as if the scheduling were not misfortune enough, most if not all of the vessel owners have an understanding or combination, whereby they charge such freight as they chose.

Owing to quarantine regulations, Canadian cattle cannot be shipped through the United States to Europe. Thus the whole export trade is confined to one Canadian port, that of Montreal, the head of ocean steamship navigation.

To this one point must come all Canadian cattle intended for the English market, and there be shipped by one or other of the few lines of steamers between that port and Great Britain.

Each line has its representative at Montreal, and what is easier than for these representatives to meet weekly or oftener, and combine as to cattle rates. They have their agents in England, cabling them constantly as to the price of cattle. If it goes up, they put up the freight rates, including rates for cattle already on board. If the price falls, rates do no come down in proportion. If there is a large quantity of cattle at Montreal, the vessel men combine to exact excessive rates.

If the markets improve and shippers want to ship in time to take advantage of such impravements, up go the rates. In fact, every state of the market or exigency of the cattle trade ceems to be taken advantage of by the vessel, to levy excessive rates. Buyers cannot ascertain before buying what the rates will be.

Thus with a well-grounded fear of being charged excessive rates, they have to buy in ignorance of what the vessel men will charge to carry the cattle to market.

The rate may be $7 a head, or it may be $17 50. This uncertainty alone makes cattle buying extremely hazardous, to the great prejudice, in some cases, of the farmer who sells, in others, of the buyer. Why should a legitimate industry be reduced to the level of gambling?

Buyers, who in buying have not calulated on a sudden squeeze by the vessel men, have lost heavily, some even being ruined or driven out of the trade. In any event this very element of uncertainty renders it extremely difficult for the buyers to know what they may safely offer for cattle. As a rule, shippers do not know what the rates are to be, until the cattle have been purchased, brought to Montreal, and loaded, and the vessel is ready to sail.

In some cases the rate is fixed after the ship has sailed with the cattle on board. In securing space, the shippers at times have to agree to pay whatever are the going rates. This means whatever the agents of the vessel owners combine upon when the shippers are in their power.

In these and other ways the whole export cattle trade of Canada is now being parylized by one of the hugest combinations in Canada.

The first principle of a contract is that both parties to it are free to assent or not to assent to its terms. Here we have two interests, the cattle industry, and the vessel industry, the latter dictating terms to which the former must submit. It is powerless to resist, for no other route is open, and the principal steamship lines coming to Montreal and engaged in the cattle trade being subsidized by the Government and enjoying other advantages are practically able to keep other vessels, except an occasional tramp steamer, off this route. Thus the conditions render this monopoly possible, and it exists, and is exercising its arbitrary powers most tyranically.

Wih pretically no competition in rates from Montreal, our cattle carried from Montreal at excessive rates are landed at Liverpool, on the same dock, by the side of American cattle carried at competitive rates from Boston, New York, etc.

Both bring the same price in the English market, but the American farmer was paid more for his cattle than was the Canadian farmer, because of the lower rates. Thus, shipping cattle are worth more in the Buffalo than in the Toronto market.

It now remains for the Canadian people to determine whether this condition of affairs shall be allowed to continue. Shall steamship lines, some of them largely subsidized by the Canadian Government and all enjoying the advantage of Canadian ports, harbors and waterways, upon which millions of Canadian money have been expended, be allowed of their own arbitrary motion to exact just such rates as they choose from the products of this Canadian industry? or shall Parliament be called upon to intervene, as it has done in the case of railways, and other powerful organizations, to protect people from oppression?

In the unequal contest, the cattle dealers have struggled in vain against the powerful vessel combination but are unable to break it.

They now bring the matter before the public.

It directly concerns the Canadian farmer. If he is to be paid the fair value of his cattle it must be possible to market them at reasonable rates, in fact as cheaply as his American rival does.

But this question concerns more the Canadian farmer. The farmer in old Canada especially is being obliged to change his mode of farming, by feeding his grain instead of selling it. If the market for his cattle is destroyed what becomes of his industry?

Thus, every Canadian is deeply concerned in guarding this most important branch of Canadian husbandry, and we ask shall one great powerful interest stand at the gateway of Canadian commerce and arbitrarily levy tribute upon one of our most important industries, or shall Parliament be asked promptly to deal with this abuse of power and thus prevent further injury?

A bill seeking to remove these greivances has been introduced into Parliament by Mr. Mulock, so that the whole subject will likely be discussed on the floors of Parliament on the second reading of the Bill. In introducing the Bill, Mr. Mulock stated that he was not wedded to the methods suggested by his Bill, if any better could be proposed, and he stands prepared to co-operate with the Government or any members of the House in order to accomplish the end aimed at, namely, the restoration of the cattle trade to a healthy basis, by the prevention of excessive and uncertain rates which are now strangling it. Therefore the question may be discussed on the basis of an existing evil, which, in the interest of the country, demands some effective remedy and that forthwith.

As the whole subject will be discussed in Parliament, and it is to be hoped a solution arrived at this session, it is of vital interest to Canada that the decision of Parliament shall be in the direction of relief from the oppression now existing. Therefore it is important that public attention be now directed towards the issue involved, in the hope that public opinion may be evoked for the guidance of the people's representatives in Parliament.

Under these circumstances the Committee of the Dominion Live Stock Association, appointed to promote the necessary legislation for the prevention of excessive, uncertain and arbitrary ocean freights, rates and methods, including scalping, respectfully request the Canadian public to co-operate with them in order to the attainment of so desirable an end.

Prince Albert,
March 25 1894.

How many persons know that Ripans Tabules, now so largely advertised and used, are simply the favorite prescription of their family doctor prepared in a scientific manner and a form convenient for handling, conveyance, preservation and use? In the great hospitals of the metropolitan cities, where the wealthy find better care than in their own luxurious homes, the ingredients of Ripans Tabules are administered to thousands of rich and poor alike with beneficial effect. They are the main dependence of the most eminent physicians in cases of derangement of the digestive organs, such as dyspepsia, constipation, billiousness and other ills connected with the stomach, liver and bowels. For some years one of the principal hospitals in New York City has used a formula, differing slightly from the common one, that has been found of unusual efficacy. Through the commendations of physicians its mission of healing has been so widely and rapidly extending that it finally seemed desirable to prepare the prescriptions in a convenient form, so as to make it available to the whole public at a moderate price, and to announce the fact through the recognized medium for securing publicity—advertisements in the columns of the newspapers of the land. This has been done, and now the time is not far distant when every family of intelligence will be as certain to possess a supply of Ripans Tabules as a clock or a cooking stove. They are already to be found on sale almost everywhere, and any druggist or dealer will supply them. A box, containing six vials, is sold for 75 cents, and a gross package, containing four boxes, for $2. They will be sent by mail, post paid, to any address, on receipt of price, by the Ripans Chemical Company, No. 10 Spruce St., New York.
